News from St Teath Primary and Preschool

The school has had a very busy start to the term with different theatre groups, sporting activities and a whole-school harvest festival celebration at St Teath Church (pictured below). We loved welcoming all our families to join us to think about this special time. We are also so appreciative of the support from 'Open the Book' and Revd Nicki Farr who visit us every Wednesday to work with the children.

A big thank you goes to the village and the St Teath Community Gardeners who, alongside our wonderful Bruce, have helped to make the school grounds look beautiful. We have carried this on with a weekly pupil gardening group to look after the beds and have planted up the troughs that Bob Fox kindly donated to us.

We are now planning a fully packed Autumn 2 term with different activities (such as those pictured above) and Christmas performances. We are very excited to be working with the village in November for a 'Take the Stage' evening on Tuesday 19th November in the Village Hall, starting at 7pm. Next month we'll be taking part in the St Teath Community Carol Concert on Monday 16th December at 10.30am and the whole-school carol service will be at the Church on Tuesday 17th December, also at 10.30am.

Methodist Musings – Rest in Peace

So often when a friend or loved one passes from this world to the next we may hear the words 'rest in peace'. Death is a devastating time for all concerned and for some the end is very traumatic, so the words 'rest in peace' are said to express the hope that someone's spirit has found peace after death.

The words often bring comfort to troubled souls. Sometimes I wonder whether the hope of our loved ones resting in peace enables us to rest in peace, too — maybe the knowledge of them no longer suffering is liberating for our souls as well.

In the Christian Church, at someone's passing we often say "may they rest in peace and rise in glory". Through this, we are trusting in God's promise of life eternal through the rising of Christ to glory.

As we approach Remembrance Day, we think on the many who gave their lives sacrificially during the wars, in extreme circumstances many miles away from family and friends, some dying en masse and others in solitude.

As we once more turn our thoughts to those who were lost to us, we recognise the futility of war and the fragility of life. We thank God for all that was given and pray that the ways of war would be no more.

Sadly, all around the world, terrible conflicts are still happening and there is much sickness and suffering. Maybe we shouldn't just be talking of resting in peace, but helping the world to LIVE in peace, though maybe we see that as being beyond anything that we can do on a personal level.

As we see terrible things occurring nationally and internationally, we also see arguing and bickering happening on a local level. Just look at social media or watch the news, then think of how we can all make a difference in our locality.

Think of the conversations that we have with those around us. We don't have to all agree, but we can disagree in love. Jesus said:

"Peace I leave with you; my peace I give you. I do not give to you as the world gives. Do not let your hearts be troubled and do not be afraid." (John 14:27)

"The Lord bless you and keep you; the Lord make his face shine on you and be gracious to you; the Lord turn his face toward you and give you peace." (Numbers 6: 24-26)

Blessings,
Rev Steve Swann

Applications are invited from all local community groups and organisations who undertake activities or organise events which benefit those living in St Teath. Groups need to explain why they are asking for funding to help with their project and why it will help the community of St Teath.

Applications need to be submitted using the Community Sparks Fund form.

Step into Christmas

Saturday 9th November in the Hall,
3-5pm

Cheer up a November afternoon with tea, coffee, cake, mince pies and luxury hot chocolate. Gift and craft stalls, including Pocket Money Pots (pictured). These presents for parents and grandparents will be on sale to children for pocket-money prices. A local group of potters will be selling their pots at prices that children can afford – so kids can buy a surprise gift for their families and carers.

St Teath Rubbish Ramblers

We had a record turnout of 9 volunteers for the first October pick. Very good to see so many people wanting to keep our village beautiful.

The team meets informally every first and third Thursday of the month at 10 am by the White Hart pub. Upcoming dates are 7th and 21st November, and 5th and 19th December. New helpers are always welcome. Please dress visibly, wear gloves and bring a bin bag. Routes range from short and flat, to the longer, hilly ones. Coffee and chat at the cafe afterwards.

St Teath AFC presents:
AN EVENING WITH JOHNNY COWLING
7pm, Saturday 23rd November in the Hall
Tickets from Lyn Burden (07817 163910)

T.Imber in The Times

Congratulations to Tom Imber, who achieved one of his bucket-list items in late September when his letter was published in The Times (pictured left).

We sincerely hope Barry doesn't seize on the idea of charging an entrance fee over Christmas, though!

Well done Tom. We're not at all offended that you sent it to The Times rather than to Timepiece, honest.

The Empress of Glass

You will never see a mirror the same way again...

In the moon's eerie light, a beautiful and fair queen bewitched by her own reflection in a beautiful golden mirror and mesmerised by the mirror's illusions, traded her wisdom for beauty, unaware of the darkness that lurked behind the glass. As her obsession grew, the queen's kingdom began to wither, mirroring the decay in her own heart.

Enthralled by her newfound allure, the queen's subjects watched in dismay as her once benevolent rule turned tyrannical and cruel. Ensnared in a web of deceit spun by her own desires, the queen's reign plunged the kingdom into chaos and despair.

The kingdom, once bustling with life and prosperity, now lay ruins. The streets and fields were barren and the people starved (their cries echoing through the desolate land). The only thing that remained was a tower, a reminder of the once majestic kingdom. Sitting in the tower window, admiring her reflection was the queen. Beside the queen was the mirror, a mysterious artefact holding secrets of the past and future.

As the whispers of the queen's transformation spread, a lone figure emerged from the shadows, a humble miller, whose reflection had remained untainted by vanity's curse. Armed with courage and compassion, the miller embarked on a quest to shatter the mirror's spell.

The miller hurried into the tower, his heart pounding with a mix of fear and anticipation. As he entered the tower, he looked around and saw there was no sign of the queen. The tower was full of tapestries and candles with a four-poster bed in the middle and, in the corner of the room, he noticed a large mirror. As he reached the mirror, a strange energy seemed to thrive. In the mirror's reflection, the queen's gaze locked with his, her eyes hypnotic, weaving a spell that enveloped him in a trance.

Suddenly a candelabra fell to the ground, illuminating the tower in great inferno- a word which here means a dangerously out of control fire. The fierce flames danced wildly, like a tiger prowling through the plains. Soon the flames reached the mirror. Engulfed in flames, the mirror shattered with a deafening crack. Suddenly the queen began screaming. The queen's piercing scream pierced through the crackling of the flames, a haunting sound that echoed through the crumbling tower. As the miller looked up the queen's skin started coming off like shattered glass. Each piece dropped to the floor and as her skin peeled she became uglier and uglier. Her hair became white, her nails long and her face warty and wrinkly. The queen was no more, just mere shards of glass on the floor. The miller jumped out of the window using the queen's white hair and listened as it ripped from her head frantically and surprisingly lived to tell the tale of the queen of vanity and narcissism.

St Teath Community Gardeners

We will be hanging up our garden tools over the next few weeks and having a little break. Some of us will be away for a few weeks, some of us will be busy with the village lights and I will be busy with the pub. We have a few small jobs to do before we stop for the winter but we will be back ready to go in the spring.

Thank you for all your help and support.
Tan and team

Co-editor's note: While the gardeners enjoy their well-deserved break, we thought some readers might also enjoy taking a break to add some colour to the right-hand image. A bit of mindful colouring is good for our busy brains, apparently!

Christmas Lights

As you all know, our little village puts on a terrific show at Christmas time. This year is no different. Join us for "Step into Christmas" on Saturday 9th November, 3pm – 5pm. It will be a lovely Christmas afternoon with lots of cakes, mince pies and hot chocolate, a small selection of gifts and crafts and plenty of Christmas cheer.

You are also welcome at our Quiz Night on Wednesday 20th November in The White Hart. Teams of 4-6 people, 7pm for 7.30 start. The restaurant will be open.

The Grand Christmas Lights switch-on will be on Saturday 30th November at 6pm, but there are lots of other special events. The Christmas Fayre in the Church hall starts at 2pm and this year, Santa's grotto will be opening at the earlier time of 3.30!

For anybody who would like to lend a hand, the lights will go up on the weekends of 16/17 November and 23/24 November and they will come down on Saturday 11th January.

If you usually park in the Square, please put these dates in your diary. We would be very grateful if you could move your cars during the day time on the weekends that the lights go up and come down – and also on the day of the lights switch on. Thank you!

A Letter From Your MP

Dear Residents of St Teath,

I'd like to start by saying what an absolute privilege it is to be asked to contribute to your newsletter. Small, close-knit communities like yours make up the beating heart of North Cornwall, and they are always a delight to visit.

To update you on my work, it's been a very busy month for me both here in Cornwall, and up in Westminster fighting on your behalf. I made my maiden speech in the Commons, focusing on bringing well-paid, highly-skilled jobs to Cornwall. As the new Government promises more housing developments, I made it clear that we need homes that, crucially, local people can actually afford – not just executive builds. These issues have affected Cornwall for generations (dating even as far back to my predecessors John Pardoe and Paul Tyler), and I will be fighting to ensure that new homes come with the infrastructure and opportunities our community needs.

I also had the opportunity to ask the Prime Minister, Keir Starmer, if he will meet all six Cornish MPs to address some of the most critical issues facing Cornwall – including chronic underfunding of public services, the lack of affordable housing, and the challenge of retaining young talent in the region. I asked the Prime Minister for this meeting so that we can talk about devolution for Cornwall and the establishment of a Cornish Assembly. Such an assembly would recognise our distinct culture, language and national minority status, while giving us the power to unlock Cornwall's full economic potential. I'm pleased to report that the Prime Minister has committed to meeting with us to explore this crucial issue further. I will update you all on this in due course.

We also recently marked 100 days since the election, where I took the opportunity to get out and speak with residents in Wadebridge and Bodmin. It's essential to hear directly from you, the people I'm working on behalf of, about what issues need addressing. I'll also be holding more surgeries across North Cornwall in the coming weeks, so whether you want to discuss casework or give feedback, please don't hesitate to get in touch to book an appointment.

I'm also very concerned about the underspending in the agricultural support budget, with £350m left unused over the past three years. This is funding that could have supported farmers across North Cornwall. With the Basic Payment Scheme being reduced, many farmers are left uncertain about the new Environmental Land Management (ELMS) schemes. I'll be meeting with Farming Minister Daniel Zeichner in a few weeks, so please reach out and share how this is affecting you. Your input will be invaluable as I push for more clarity and support for our agricultural sector.

Lastly, I was proud to meet with CAMRA (Campaign for Real Ale) recently to discuss how we can better support our local breweries and pubs. Small brewers often struggle to compete with massive global companies, which dominate the market. Local pubs should be free to stock a wider variety of beers, and I'll continue advocating for policies that help our independent brewers and pubs thrive. Now is the time to get behind our local businesses, and they need our support more than ever.

Revd Nicki Writes...

Dear Friends

As the evenings draw in and the days get shorter, we move into November and find ourselves in a place of remembering.

The profile of Remembrance Day and Remembrance Sunday services has steadily grown momentum over the last few decades. Poppies, a sign of remembrance for all those who gave their lives in service during the wars, have become more varied in design. We now see many artistic creations on display both in our communities and as a personal badge as people wear their poppy as a sign of never forgetting. Services across our churches and at war memorials will gather people as they pay respect to the memory of those both named and unnamed on war memorials in the area.

Remembering at this national and community level is just one area of remembrance that takes place. 1st November is All Saint's Day. This is a day to remember all the saints and martyrs during Christian history. This is then followed by All Soul's Day on 2nd November to commemorate those who have passed within the faith. This brings remembrance to a personal level as we think about and remember our loved ones.

Remembering is an important aspect of the Christian faith. Throughout the Old Testament, God's people were encouraged to remember all that God had done for them and to pass these memories onto the next generations. It was through remembering that God's people were empowered to keep going during times of struggle and it was through remembering that God's people were filled with praise and sang many hymns and songs to reflect this. The Psalms give a vast arsenal of ancient hymns that help us to deal with a wide range of emotions.

In the New Testament, we note the importance Jesus placed on remembering, when at The Last Supper while preparing his disciples for his impending death he said, 'Do this in remembrance of me.' Each time we celebrate Holy Communion we too, as his disciples, remember what Christ has done for each of us through his death and resurrection. It reminds us of the price he paid for sin, and the love he has for each of us, as he affirms our value and worth through his sacrificial love. As we remember this, we too can be empowered to deal with the struggles of life and in turn this gives us hope causing us to sing God's praise.

Wherever you find yourself in this season, whatever you find yourself remembering, maybe you might like to turn to the Psalms to find words of comfort and hope. Alternatively you may like to remember the story of Jesus and read through one of the Gospels.

May God bless you in this season of Remembrance.

County Council

Back in 2017, I led a small committee at New County Hall that was put together to look at all aspects of the Council's waste and recycling policies, and specifically to make recommendations to the Cabinet regarding the renewal of the household collection contract with Biffa.

Our remit was to see whether we could make changes that would improve overall recycling rates in Cornwall, which at the time were a little over 30% and some of the poorest in the country. We took evidence from a very broad range of witnesses, including other local authorities from as far away as North Wales, and commercial firms right through the waste and recycling supply chains.

The resulting 158-page report led to several key recommendations, some of which are finally now being rolled out in North Cornwall. Two of the key aspects are the introduction of a weekly food waste collection and the issuing of wheelie bins to most households for a fortnightly general black-bag waste collection.

When we looked at evidence from our current no-limit black-bag collections, we found each bag contained around 22% of waste that could already be recycled using the current service and that 35% of each bag was food waste. This is quite a shocking figure – especially in a time when food inflation has been such a key part of the recent cost-of-living crisis.

The early statistics from areas such as South East Cornwall – already up and running with the new collection service – are that recycling rates are now consistently well over 50%, which is comfortably above most international standards and better than most authorities in England.

Full details of the changes can be found on the Council website on this page:

<https://www.cornwall.gov.uk/rubbish-recycling-and-waste/new-food-waste-recycling-and-rubbish-service/>

These changes are something that I am very proud to have played a significant part in. They are estimated to reduce Cornwall's carbon footprint by 18,000 tonnes of CO₂ per year. Hopefully, this is only the beginning of our progress towards a greener, more circular economy, and we still have much that we can learn from Wales, which is now cited as the second-best recycling nation in the world with rates of around 70%.

St Teath Djembe Drummers

We have been drumming every Monday evening in the Community Centre since June 2011, which will be just under 14 years by the end of December. We have seen many changes during that time, even survived lockdown during the COVID pandemic but now, sadly, our last drumming session will be on Monday 9th December this year as I have run out of steam, so to speak. I never ever thought it would come to me but the inevitable has happened. Age!!!!

It's been a pleasure meeting up with new people and sharing different West African rhythms and happy we will all be in touch and meet up for coffee now and then - to even drum!!

Fancy taking over?

Thank you

Thanks to all who came to my Macmillan Coffee Morning in September, and to everyone who helped. £535 has been sent to the charity. ~~ Eileen Treby

Big thanks to Rob and Claire Rowe for their hard work weeding and tidying around the Hall. It looks great and we really appreciate your help!

~~ From the Hall Committee
